

CARING FOR CALIFORNIA'S HEARTLAND

Central Valley Health Network

WHO WE ARE

Incorporated in 1998, the Central Valley Health Network (CVHN) is a consortium of 13 Federally Qualified

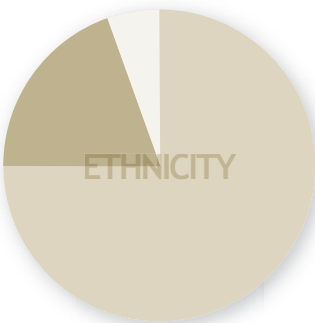

Health Center corporations that provide comprehensive preventive primary care services to low-income and medically under served families throughout the Central Valley of California.

As the major system of health care for low-income families throughout the Central Valley, in many communities CVHN health centers provide the only access to primary care services. CVHN members are the medical home for families and many members provide medical, dental, pharmacy, and mental health services.

CVHN has 118 sites in 20 counties that provide 2.3 million encounters to over 560,000 patients annually. Seventy-seven percent of these patients are at or below 100% of federal poverty level, 49% are on Medi-Cal, 35% are uninsured, 74% are Latino, and 40% are farmworkers. CVHN members provide services in urban disadvantaged areas as well as rural and remote areas throughout the Central Valley. We advocate at the local, state, and federal level to ensure low-income families have access to primary care services.

Our mission is to strengthen our community health centers in the marketplace, augmenting their abilities to deliver high quality, accessible care to residents in the communities they serve. We place a special priority on advocacy efforts to achieve optimal health for the medically under served.

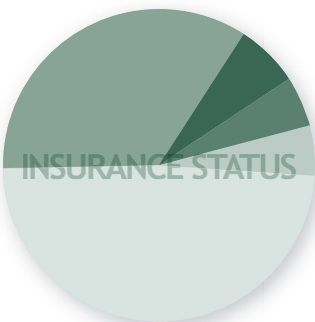

CVHN staff support members in many ways including advocacy, technical assistance, program development and administration, and training. CVHN supports workforce and community development through the Oral Health and HealthCorps Programs, provides nutrition and physical activity education through the Nutrition Education Program, promotes access to healthy foods through the Food Stamp Outreach Program, and administers several Quality Improvement and Health Information Exchange programs through training and technical assistance.
